

Belgian Malts that Make Your Beer So Special

PRIDE OF RINGWOOD

BREWING QUALITY

The Australian hop variety Pride of Ringwood is a high alpha cultivar with intensely woody, earthy and herbal aroma. Pride of Ringwood is a very well regarded high alpha Australian bred bitter variety with pleasant hop aroma. Not particularly suitable for aroma but effective as a bittering hop. Pride of Ringwood imparts a unique "Australian" flavour to beers like Australian pales ales and lagers.

ORIGIN / HISTORY

Pride of Ringwood was bred by Carlton and United Breweries in 1953 at their Ringwood Research Station Melbourne Victoria. This cultivar was bred by open pollination of a female related to the English cultivar Pride of Kent.
